ABOUT US

LIME is a renewable energy company making the transition to sustainable living refreshingly simple.

We believe renewable energy should feel accessible, straightforward, and centred entirely around the customer. In an industry often filled with complexity, technical jargon, and overwhelming choices, LIME exists to make the process clear, transparent, and stress-free.

From the first conversation through to final installation, we guide customers every step of the way with honest advice, genuine care, and complete clarity. No hidden surprises. No confusing language. Just premium renewable energy solutions delivered through a smooth, supportive experience.

LIME brings together best-in-class renewable technologies with exceptional customer service, helping homeowners and businesses make confident choices for a more sustainable future. Whether it's solar energy, battery storage, EV charging, or wider renewable solutions, our focus is always the same: delivering smarter energy solutions in a way that feels easy and reassuring.

Our name reflects our approach - fresh, natural, and focused on a better way forward. We're proud to help customers reduce their environmental impact while creating long-term value, energy independence, and peace of mind.

At LIME, going green shouldn't feel complicated. It should simply feel right.
